

we come from the white darkness

, carbide lamps in hand, bodies crouching, we enter into a posture, are there for a while then leave.

the history in us

, a firestorm.

Besides,

we will run into it

in the black arse of the crow

on our way to the sun